Thursday, August 4th | 5:00pm, Saltaire Library

New York City and Long Island communities are on the front lines of climate change. The good news is that we have some of the most abundant offshore wind resources in the country and New York is well on its way to being a national leader in the transition from fossil fuels to renewable energy. Come learn about the proposed offshore wind projects that will be bringing renewable energy to over 2 million homes in NY and LI. Join Citizens Campaign for the Environment and Saltaire resident Julia Bovey for this exciting presentation, followed by an opportunity for Q & A.

Citizens Campaign for the Environment (CCE) was formed in 1985 by a small group of concerned citizens who recognized the need to provide public involvement to advance stronger environmental policy. Today, CCE has grown to a 120,000-member organization with offices in Farmingdale, NY, Albany, NY, Syracuse, NY, and Buffalo, NY. CCE continues to work to empower the public by providing members with opportunities to participate in the political process and thereby advance a strong environmental agenda.

CCE engages in extensive education, research, lobbying and public outreach. One of their primary goals is to help citizens increase their influence and participation in important environmental campaigns. Through such activism, the public has a stronger voice in the development of public policies and legislative agendas.
